DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1,2,3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Shanley (6293967). Shanley discloses an expandable stent with a plurality of interconnected struts and has flexion points, see Figs. 3A,8. The examiner is interpreting the claimed limitations "relief cuts at or near" in this way: since the struts have cuts 40 that are rounded or arcuate holes in the side it can be said to be near the flexion points. Claims in a pending application should be given their broadest reasonable interpretation. In re Pearson, 181 USPQ 641 (CCPA 1974). See also In re Morris, Fed. Cir. 1997 127 F3d 1048, 1054,1055. According to Microsoft Bookshelf definition of round: every part is equidistant from the center. This is true of the cuts 40. Also according to the Microsoft Bookshelf definition of a hole: a cavity in a solid. This is also true of the cuts 40, which form a cavity in the side of the struts. It can be seen (3a-3c) that the width of the struts are greater than the thickness. Shanley also discloses the width is 2 times as great as the thickness, col. 11, lines 7-10,25-32.

Regarding claim 3, the examiner is interpreting sections 82 as the ends and the middle portion 84 as the central section. Thus, it can be seen there are relief cuts 94 only in the distal and proximal ends.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 4/18/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Shanley does not teach "holes" in the struts. The examiner is interpreting the claimed elements "cuts being round or arcuate holes" in this way: a cut with rounded dimensions as defined in the rejection above. Additionally, a hole can also be something defining a cavity as mentioned above. Claims in a pending application should be given their broadest reasonable interpretation. In re Pearson, 181 USPQ 641 (CCPA 1974). See also In re Morris, Fed. Cir. 1997 127 F3d 1048, 1054, 1055. The definition of a hole is not limited to a shape having closed dimensions.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
